Cruse considering vetoing ordinance

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — A veto of the recently-approved housing ordinance, requiring occupancy permits, is being considered by Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

Though he hasn't made a definite decision, Cruse said the effectiveness of the law needs to be determined before it is signed.

THE ORDINANCE would require a permit be issued before a dwelling could be occupied and utilities turned on. An inspection by Building Inspector John Jakich and City Inspector Erv BeKousse would be required.

The City Council passed the ordinance 10-2 on Oct. 7. Cruse was unable to attend the meeting because he was in Detroit.

Aldermen Brett Hanke and Woody Moad, members of the planning and zoning committee that worked on the ordinance, suggested several amendments. These include:

• Allowing persons to occupy a dwelling with the intention of fixing or remodeling it, known as "sweet equity."

• Granting permits over the telephone for homes that are not in need of inspection.

• Granting of a permit to keep utilities on so that necessary repairs can be made.

• Outlining specific areas of permit denial.

CRUSE SAID he has reservations about signing the ordinance if it is in need of amendments.

Cruse must either completely veto the ordinance or approve it as is. He does not have the option of a line-item (or amendatory) veto — vetoing (or revising) parts of the ordinance instead of the entire thing, except for an appropriation ordinance, said City Attorney Mark Goldenberg.

"That would be great if I could do it," Cruse said.

CRUSE HAS until Tuesday's city council meeting to make his decision. Ironically, Tuesday is his 63rd birthday.

However, the aldermen could override Cruse's veto by a two-thirds majority vote.

Fifth Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey, committee chairman, said he's hoping Cruse will not veto the ordinance.

"WE WORKED too ... long on the thing as it is," Bailey said. "I hate to see anything changed. It's right for everybody."

Since work started on drafting the ordinance, Bailey said, he has received only three telephone calls from residents who oppose it.

"I think it's a good thing," he said. "I done what was right."

THE ORDINANCE, Bailey said, would protect low-income residents from substandard housing. Bailey said he has observed several homes with exposed electrical wiring and with gas and water lines running across floors.

The ordinance was drafted by Assistant City Attorney Charlie Douglas.

Conflict question arises in Macios board appointment

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The appointment of JoAnn Macios to the District 9 Board of Education has been called into question because of her job as a deputy assessor of Nameoki Township.

An official with the state Board of Elections said a 13-year-old attorney general's opinion may make Macios ineligible to hold an elective school board post because of her title.

"THE TWO activities are not compatible," said an official for the election board, Bob Swartz.

The opinion was written by the late Illinois Attorney General William Scott in 1973. Scott offered an opinion at the request of former Illinois Superintendent of Instruction Michael Bakalis.

The opinion pertains to possible conflicts of interest with holding an assessor job and school board post at the same time.

The two posts are incompatible, according to the opinion, because conflicts may arise when the township assessor's office appraises property within the school district. The district receives some of its tax money based on property assessments in the township, though the district owns no property in the township.

A SPOKESMAN for the Illinois attorney general's office, Phil Mueller, said the Illinois Supreme Court has upheld the opinion on several occasions.

'If she is a deputy assessor ... from looking at it and subsequent Supreme Court decisions, it is enough to render the offices incompatible.'

Phil Mueller,
Attorney General's Office

"If she is a deputy assessor ... from looking at it and subsequent Supreme Court decisions, it is enough to render the offices incompatible," said Mueller.

The opinion states: "If a tax assessor were also a member of a school board he could find himself assessing property of a school in his district ... The office of a member of a school board is incompatible with that of township tax assessor."

"ANY DEPUTY of any office assumes the responsibility of the same kind of office," Swartz said, regarding the deputy assessor title. But Nameoki Assessor Carl Macios, JoAnn Macios' husband, said, though his wife has the job title of deputy assessor, she does not perform any assessing functions.

"She doesn't do any assessing. She never has. She is really an office manager," Carl Macios said.

MACIOS SAID his wife does not have the qualifications and is not certified to perform assessing tasks that the state requires of assessors.

He said she and two other township employees hold the title of deputy assessor for payroll purposes. The deputy assessors are paid by the day.

Macios said he discussed a possible conflict with District 9 Board of Education attorney William Schooley before JoAnn Macios was appointed on Oct. 5 by Regional Superintendent of Schools Gene Briggs.

"I talked not only to him (Schooley), but other attorneys. I got the same opinion (that there was no conflict)," Macios said.

"HOW COULD there be a conflict because of a title? I could change the title tomorrow. If it's the wrong title ... it's wrong, I guess," he said.

JoAnn Macios said her function in the assessor's office, which is located at JoAnn and Carl Macios' home on Cambridge Drive, does not include assessing property directly or indirectly.

"I'm just the girl who runs the office," she said.

Macios said the duties include preparing permits, registering mobile homes in the township, and taking care of senior citizens' homestead reductions on their valuations. Macios said she also informs people how the assessor calculates their assessments.

Good grades for schools

By Donna Kimbro

MADISON — A summary of "report card" information, received from the state, was read by Assistant Superintendent of Schools Dan Kostenick at Thursday night's board meeting.

It showed Madison schools generally received high marks in the first statistical evaluation of its performance, issued by the state this month in conformity with the 1985 School Reform Act.

THE ASSISTANT superintendent said, "In areas reported by the report card, we show a significantly higher rate of low-income students. The state average is 23.7 percent and we have 22.5 percent."

"The State Board of Education comments in its report that low-income and transient students do as well on achievement tests as other students, contributing to overall test ratings."

"Our mobility rate (transiency) is 29.0 to the state average of 20.8 percent; our overall average attendance is only slightly lower than the state's, 92.2 percent here to 93.6. And district figures show a lower than state averages in percentage of special education students."

"The card also rates the students' performance on nationally-normed tests."

Public servants serve themselves a raise

By Norma Mendoza

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County Board members approved raises for themselves and elected county officials Wednesday.

The largest increase goes to County Board members who will be elected in 1986. They will receive an 8 percent more than the present salary, paid to members elected since 1982.

Members elected in 1982 receive $5,500 per year. The graduated increase will give those re-elected and newly elected members $7,000 per year in each of the next two years and $8,000 per year for the third and fourth years of their terms. Those members elected in 1984 receive $7,000 per year. They will receive no increase for the remaining two years of their elected terms.

Voting against the increase were board members Anthony Bosich of Wood River, Harold Byers of Highland, H. Jack Frandsen of Alhambra, Homer Henke of Moro and Michael Semanisin of Maryville.

Byers asked the board to oppose all of the raises.

"This is our chance to practice fiscal restraint this issue and vote no today," Byers said before the vote.

Frandsen and Henke joined Byers in opposing increases for the county clerk, treasurer and sheriff.

Increases for the clerk and treasurer amount to 10.3 percent overall with an increase from $38,285 to $40,000 the first year, $41,000 the second year, $43,000 the third year and $45,000 the fourth year.

The sheriff's salary increase is 13.6 percent overall with an increase from $38,285 to $43,000 for each of the first three years and to $45,000 for the fourth year.

Board unanimous:

Don't put 'Alton' judge in East St. Louis

By Norma Mendoza

EDWARDSVILLE — By a unanimous voice vote, the Madison County Board expressed disapproval over moving the U.S. district judge in Alton to East St. Louis.

In a resolution calling for the judge, his staff and office to remain in Alton, the board said the people of Madison County would consider the removal to be a breach of faith with the citizens of Madison County and a burden upon litigants, jurors, court employees and of no reasonable benefit to the administration of justice.

"I want to make it clear what this is not," said the resolution's sponsor, William Haine of Alton. "This is not to compare counties or to disparage St. Clair County in any way. But it seems that Madison County and the northern tier of counties in the federal district are entitled to representation in the area."

Haine said a move to East St. Louis would leave two sites in the Southern region with Article III judges — Benton and East St. Louis. He said the Southern region reaches Calhoun County.

Haine said an Article III judge is one provided for by Article III of the U.S. Constitution.

"That's the big judge," he said. "I hope the effect of this resolution is to send a clear message that we want to keep a full-time seat in the Alton federal building."

Haine said the Alton courthouse which was built in the '70s was specifically designed for an Article III judge.

"We don't want to lose all of the benefits which accrue to a county which has such a court," Haine said.

Haine said St. Clair County recently acquired an Article III judge with

Lucky to be alive

By Paul Harvey

If you have ever had ulcers... If you have ever had high blood pressure... If you have ever had an appendectomy or diabetes or an acute allergic reaction or complications during childbirth... You are fortunate to have been born when you were.

Had you been born 50 years earlier, you would not likely have survived any one of those illnesses.

Modern medicine — for all that it has not yet accomplished — is the only reason you are alive. When this century turned the corner 15 percent of all infants did not make it to their first birthday. The big killers were pneumonia, influenza, tuberculosis and infectious intestinal diseases. Life expectancy was 50 years.

Life expectancy for men today is 71.1 years, for women 78.3. Medical, nutritional and sanitation sciences have added 16 weeks to the average human life span in the past 24 months!

If you read in the obituary columns that more Americans are dying of heart disease, cancer and strokes — that testifies to the "success" of modern medicine.

It is the fact that Americans these days are surviving the infectious diseases that used to kill them young — are surviving long enough to die of afflictions associated with aging.

The American Council on Science and Health affirms that statistically "today's health practitioners are better at preventing, diagnosing, treating and curing illness than ever before."

The ACSH recognizes the purification of water supplies as a major factor in today's longer life expectancy and the purification of milk for reducing infant mortality.

Presently we are killing ourselves in cars, 900 a week.

Catch the United Way spirit

Your views

BEN W. Johannpeter has held several executive positions at Granite City Steel, a division of National Steel Corporation. He is the local division's manager of public relations.

One look at your paycheck and you ask yourself the question, "Where does all the money go?" Take a look at your pay stub. Does it list a contribution to Granite City Steel's Torch Club?

If so, that answers the question of one place your money goes. Torch Club dollars go to provide assistance for people in your community who need help, and that help is available where you live — Granite City, St. Louis, St. Charles, Poochantas, Van Buren, Fenton...

Many times we think that actual evidence of our charitable dollars helping someone else is sometimes vague or elusive. That's because those dollars are marked for tragic situations that oftentimes our immediate families or friends have fortunately eluded.

While those tragedies seem only to happen to "someone else, some other place," no one is fooled into thinking it couldn't happen a lot closer to home, for instance, our own homes.

It's that time of year for Granite City Steel's drive for new members in the Torch Club or for current members to increase their contributions. Membership in the Torch Club is a personal decision — a decision that concerns the health and welfare of friends, neighbors and fellow workers.

The decision to make a conscious effort to be part of the community services that each dollar provides through the Torch Club is also a premium payment against an insurance that those services will be there if you or members of your family are ever in need.

Each dollar goes to support community services, including Catholic and Protestant welfare services for children and the elderly, such as victims of a crippling disease, or to help and research for people with cancer, arthritis, cerebral palsy, autism, Ray's syndrome, etc.

The largest percent of Torch Club dollars is distributed to the Tri-Cities Area United Way agencies and the help they provide locally.

The concept of your charitable dollar is that by giving where you work, services are provided where you live from any one of the more than 2,200 United Ways nationwide.

Wherever you live, wherever you work, the United Way and any other charitable organization supported by a Torch Club donation is there for you.

If there's a need, your dollars are there to fill it. There's nothing vague or elusive about a person in trouble or in pain. Pain and trouble cry out in loud voices — and community help organizations such as the United Way, Red Cross, Project Help, Visiting Nurses, etc. hear the call for help and respond with your dollars.

Your help is what is freely given to those in need. The community organizations supported by the Torch Club are your representatives close to the action.

Finding help for a personal problem can be frustrating. People often do without assistance simply because they don't know where to turn.

United Way contributions provide one solution to this problem because of the work of George Cook, AFL-CIO Community Services director, appointed by the Trades and Labor Council and employed by the Tri-Cities United Way.

The union workers of Granite City have a long history of support and cooperation with United Way toward the common goal of improving the quality of life and helping people in need for all the people of the community.

Cook provides that direct link between people with personal problems and the community services available to them through the United Way agencies and other charitable organizations.

"One of my responsibilities with the United Way is to provide an information Referral Service to the community whereby people are put in direct contact with the agencies that can help them with specific problems," says Cook.

"People having problems themselves — with their immediate families can contact me as a resource to help with any off-the-job situation. "Slicing through red-tape can often speed up the process with city, state and federal agencies as well as the over 200 cooperative service agencies in the St. Louis metropolitan area, such as a family counseling center or an alcoholism treatment clinic.

Another responsibility involves me attending union meetings and other organized meetings, one way to keep people informed of the programs and services available in the community."

Cook is also the director for an agency that is very visible in the community, called Project Help. Project Help was organized in 1983 to respond to the area recession by helping the long-term unemployed.

This tradition of people helping people is a basic tenet of the labor movement and the American way of life. Cook has directed the activities of Project Help since its inception and continues to coordinate both the food distribution program and the fund-raising efforts with the help of volunteers from churches and organized labor groups.

"Working men and women have always responded to the needs of the community and their fellow workers," Cook notes.

"Many are blessed with health and a good job and others are less fortunate and unable to help themselves. Working people see those problems because they happen close to home — to friends and relatives, to co-workers."

"The United Way concept of 'one gift-one time' is more than 40 years old in the Tri-City area and has been supported by Granite City Steel's Labor/Manager, Torch Club all through the years."

The Torch Club is "people helping people" through the ways and means of the Tri-Cities Area United Way agencies which proclaim that "the U in United is YOU."

Turn to the United Way if you'd like to help someone in need. And turn to the United Way if it's your own family that needs help.

Voters can OK new home

To the editor:

Madison County has the unique opportunity to become the regional leader in senior health care. On Nov. 4, the Madison County Nursing Home bond issue goes before the voters.

With voters' approval, Madison County will lead the health field into the 21st Century.

The proposed nursing home is not a new facility but is a replacement for two antiquated, obsolete, inefficient buildings. The Sheltered Care Home was built in 1933. Erected in 1925, the present nursing home was converted from the abandoned tuberculosis sanitarium into its present state in 1971.

These buildings are inefficient in labor consumed supplies, maintenance and heating.

The old TB sanitarium is three stories tall, connected by stairs and elevators. It is difficult for the handicapped to negotiate. There are 11 commodes (toilets) for 100 residents.

The areas for visiting with families are severely limited. The proposed new nursing home has many exciting possibilities. The quarters will be modern, comfortable, and efficient.

With the increase in Alzheimer's disease, this building is ideally designed for the patients' safety and comfort.

One wing would be well suited for hospice care. Another wing could bridge the gap between hospital and home for those with critical illnesses.

The new nursing home will be just that — a home. It will care for our loved ones, from basic sheltered living to skilled nursing care for the profoundly debilitated.

The new facility will give care with affordable rates that the profit-making nursing homes envy.

The Madison County Home has always operated on the non-profit credo, with emphasis on paying its obligations to the community.

The old facilities are a drain on county resources due to their age and physical layout. A new facility will be combined and, with an additional 35 beds, will make quality of care and quality of life available for 200 of our friends, neighbors and family. I urge all to vote Yes on Nov. 4.

Insurance — an expensive necessity

On Friday, Oct. 3, I bought my first new car.

Traveling to and from work every day, I really enjoy driving my car, especially with that "new car smell."

Like everything about the auto except for one small item — the insurance.

Don't get me wrong. Insurance is a good thing. It's the rates that are bad.

Insurance today is a necessity, just like food, clothing and a place to live. Without it, a person is living dangerously.

Unfortunately, the cost of insurance makes it an expensive necessity.

One reason, I believe, for the rise in insurance premiums is the increased number of lawsuits, especially concerning auto accidents involving drunk drivers.

Our civil court system is just as crowded, or possibly even more crowded than our criminal courts. The people who are suing may have a right to sue, but they're raising the rates for everyone else.

Columnists' Club

By Bill Bagby

Drunk drivers are a problem. But go after the drunk drivers, not paying John Doe with the good driving record. He's the one who's paying for it in the end.

Another increase in rates, that I think is insane, is for male drivers under 25 years old (which unfortunately include me). How can an insurance agent, or anyone, say male drivers under 25 are a higher risk, meaning higher rates? Just because the averages say they are, doesn't mean it's always so.

Then, under this theory, once a man turns 25 he automatically becomes a better driver. If you believe that, I've got some ocean-front property in Hammond, Ind. I'll be glad to sell you.

In my car, I really didn't have much choice. It was on Thursday, Oct. 2, when the car dealer called me at work and said my car would be ready the following afternoon.

I was anxious to drive the car, so I knew I had to get some insurance Friday morning. I wanted to shop around, but didn't have time. I could have waited to get my car and compared different insurance companies in the meantime.

Two choices were considered by me. I wanted that car. So I decided to go with the insurance company my father uses.

Mistake number one.

When I found out the rate, I nearly fell off my chair. It was double the rate my father pays.

I was stuck. I wanted the new car but I didn't want the insurance payments. I couldn't have it both ways, so I took the car and the payments.

Even if I didn't want insurance, there's no way I could have driven that car off the dealer's lot without full coverage.

No matter how you look at it, they've got you right where they want you.

However, it's just not "auto insurance." It's home, life and medical insurance as well.

With their $100 deductibles and their coverage stipulations, it leads me to believe the average person pays more in premiums than he will ever receive in benefits.

It's no wonder that many people can't afford the necessity of insurance.

Farmers defending ethanol as fuel

To the editor:

Farmers seldom have a chance to promote their product directly to the consumer. But a program initiated by the Illinois Farm Bureau allows farmers around the state to do just that.

The product targeted for promotion is ethanol, the octane-enhancing fuel additive made primarily from corn refining.

The reason for the promotion is that farmers are concerned that the facts about ethanol are not being told.

Worse yet, the marketing campaigns of a handful of major oil companies are contributing to public confusion about a perfectly sound product.

A decade ago there was virtually no commercial production of fuel ethanol in the nation. But soaring crude oil prices and a national effort to become more self-sufficient in energy sources spurred the creation of an ethanol fuels industry centered in Illinois.

This year, roughly one-fourth of all the automotive gasoline in the state contains ethanol. Perhaps more important, a full 50 percent of the total volume of ethanol nationwide is produced in Illinois plants. This work provides 3,700 jobs either directly or in related industries.

For the car owner, ethanol has made possible the high-octane, inexpensive gasoline which have become the staple products of the independent gasoline retailers.

That's what places ethanol in the middle of a competitive struggle. And the battle is heating up.

The marketing campaigns of some major oil companies suggest to the consumer that there is something wrong with ethanol. If this battle for the public mind is lost, ethanol could turn from a "good" additive to a "bad" additive.

Illinois farmers know they can't afford to let this product falter. They are speaking up for ethanol — getting the facts out to consumers and increasing pressure on major oil companies to modify their marketing campaigns.

This work is direct action that farmers can take to defend a market for their products. And it's action that is needed right now.

Political backlash much less than thought

Taking a stand, any stand, predictably means making some people happy and displeasing others.

When our endorsements appeared in Thursday's paper, therefore, every call that came into the newsroom was treated like a call from a tax auditor.

Anticipated were lengthy arguments on why Candidate A was actually superior, hands down, over Candidate B, and that we narrowly minded chose Candidate B anyway.

The calls didn't come on Thursday or Friday. We did get an office visit from Jane Spigel, the secretary of state candidate running on Adlai Stevenson's Solidarity Party ticket, but it was an informational visit rather than one meant to castigate us on our endorsement for the Republican incumbent, Jim Edgar.

Two choices were considered by us to be controversial for this area. We endorsed Democrat Bob Church for sheriff over the widely respected Republican, Tom Volski, and we almost surprised ourselves by endorsing Republican Bob Gaffner for U.S. representative over the 21-term incumbent, Mel Price.

To the credit of Volski and Price, we received no complaint calls. Both candidates are good men and they apparently respect, though understandably must disagree with our endorsements for their opponents.

Surely a factor in why we received no complaints this time is that many people agreed with our choices. But we must believe there are quite a few who disagreed. Though merely speculation, perhaps a main factor in why we didn't get complaints is that we ran three editorials on the page specifically stating where we stood in the three major races.

We outlined why we support another term for Gov. James Thompson and for U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, and a first term for Gaffner in the U.S. House. Our rationale in these editorials may have been lacking to those who were not endorsed, but at least they could read our reasoning in detail.

Our endorsements were made based on the best information available to a staff of Quad-City Area reporters having a combined total of more than 100 years of experience. The value of each candidate's potential as a public servant was debated by staff members just as the choice for each candidate must be debated in the mind of each thinking voter.

We made decisions we believe are best for the people and are hopeful that each of you, when it comes time to make a choice, deliberate with as much care before you cast your ballots on Nov. 4.

National BPW Week scheduled Oct. 19-25

Becky Slate, president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's organization, has announced observance of National Business Women's Week Oct. 19-25, by local members.

The president noted the third full week in October is traditionally BPW Week for all organizations of BPW-USA and many cooperating groups and news media.

She said the objectives are to publicize the achievements of business and professional women everywhere, on local, state and national levels, and publicize the objectives and programs of BPW as they relate to all employed women.

The week is a nationwide salute to the achievements of working women, and a national goal of elevating the standards for business and professional women is particularly stressed, the president said.

Mrs. Slate said promoting the week is more important than ever. About 80 percent of single mothers work full-time, and yet one-third of female-led families live in poverty.

However, more women are protecting their futures by preparing for technological and information-based careers, she said.

Pat Bax, chairman, and members of her committee have established an agenda for the week.

They made large posters announcing the event and the artworks will be displayed in the windows of business places throughout the city.

There also will be a booth in the Granite City Public Library which will exhibit books and information on the literacy program, with Florence Moore in charge of this segment.

Beginning Monday, Oct. 20, the club will host an IDC meeting at the Brown Realty office at 6:30 p.m.; on Tuesday, it will attend the City Council meeting at 7 p.m.; on Wednesday there will be a clown costume sewing party at the home of Jane Isenberg, 279 Northland, at 6:30 p.m.; and on Thursday, a public seminar will be conducted at BAC's Granite City Canyons featuring Jerry Trattler. He will speak on Citizens Against Crime at 7 p.m.

On Friday, Oct. 24, a social gathering is planned for 7 p.m. at the clubhouse of Hazel Rollins in Porton Beach and on Sunday, Oct. 26, all members will accompany Mrs. Slate to church services at 10:30 a.m. at a Nidringhaus United Methodist Church. Following the church service, BPW members will attend a brunch at Jerry's Restaurant.

Venice votes cable TV franchise change

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — After reaffirming a commitment to improve service, officials of Cencom Cable Associates heard City Council members consent to the transfer of the community's cable television franchise from South-Western Cable TV Ltd.

Transfer of the agreement to Cencom was granted at Tuesday night's council meeting.

"WE DO INTEND to live up to the existing franchise that we are the existing from South-Western Cable," Floyd Rogers, a Cencom official, said.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin asked if Cencom will improve service to the community, "such as when it rains."

"That's true," 4th Ward Alderman Charles Haynes agreed. "When it rains here, it is bad (reception) and it doesn't have to be a heavy rain to do it."

"WE ARE LOOKING at some technical things, some different ways we can improve that," said Matthew Aldridge, supervisor at the cable system's Maryville facility.

"There are steps we intend to take to improve reliability of service."

"We definitely hope to decrease your off-air time," he added.

FOURTH WARD Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. asked the Cencom officials about cables laying on top of the ground in some locations.

"There are a lot of cables in alleys, where people may have run over them and uncovered them," Valentine said.

Aldridge admitted this is possible, explaining that cables are buried at shallow depths, usually about six inches below the surface.

"I'll make you a list of places (where cables are exposed) and bring it to you, if that is all right," Aldridge said.

Valentine said.

"PLEASE DO IT. We'd welcome it," Rogers replied.

Rogers explained that deregulation of cable television will allow network rates to be adjusted after Jan. 1, 1987.

"There will be no rate adjustments up until the end of this year. As you know, the 1984 Cable TV Act will be deregulated at that time."

"We are not a utility company; we are a marketing service and the rates will reflect what the market will bear," Rogers said.

"THAT'S SIMPLY MEANS you have the option of buying it or not buying it," Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

"I have been assured that we have cable already to this building and it is just a matter of determining where the hook-up will be," the mayor said, responding to a question by Haynes regarding the public access clause in the agreement.

HAYNES ALSO inquired about adding the Black Television Network to available programming.

"In some instances we do offer this network. It depends on marketing factors in an area," Rogers said.

A resolution transferring the franchise to Cencom Cable Associates of Chesterfield, Mo., was presented and adopted.

Cencom currently serves about 90,000 subscribers in the St. Louis County area.

FIRST CAROLINA Communications, parent company of South-Western Cable TV Ltd., has entered into an agreement with Cencom for the sale of its cable TV system.

About 21 municipalities in which South-Western Cable holds franchise rights still must decide if they will approve the changeover.

ROLE OF THE CORONER

Many people misunderstand the role of the medical examiner (coroner) and believe it is necessary to call him no matter what the cause or circumstance of death. It seems worthwhile, therefore, to clarify this issue.

The fact is that there are only a few instances in which the presence of a coroner is required by law. In most jurisdictions, for instance, the coroner must act ONLY in case of accidental death, death from other than natural causes, or the sudden death of a person not recently under a physician's care. The purpose of this is to determine the cause of death in cases where that is not otherwise evident.

In most instances, your funeral director can advise you whether or not the coroner is needed. EVEN IF THE CORONER HAS ALREADY BEEN CALLED BY SOMEONE OUTSIDE THE FAMILY, YOU ARE STILL ENTITLED TO CALL THE FUNERAL DIRECTOR OF YOUR OWN CHOOSING AND DO NOT HESITATE TO VOICE THAT CHOICE.

Special education parents to hear resource teacher

Linda A. Koenig, resource teacher, will speak at a meeting Oct. 20 of the Parents for Special Education.

Mrs. Koenig holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Northwest Missouri State University and a master's degree in special education from SIUE. She is currently in elementary education, teaching disabilities, social and emotional disorders, and educational handicapped.

A resource teacher at Niederhagen School since 1983, Koenig works with the Gifted Idea Lab.

She will explain the responsibilities of the resource teacher. Typically, students are "streamlined" in the regular classroom for most or all courses. Resource instruction is given in cases in which the student has difficulty, or would not succeed in the regular program.

Instruction may be remedial or special, given on a one-to-one basis or in small groups. Less than 50 percent of the day is spent in the resource room.

It is estimated that 20 percent of all school children have a learning disability. These children usually receive average or above-average intelligence. But, left untreated, the disability can result in damage to the child's self-esteem and prevent him or her from learning basic skills.

The resource teacher is trained to detect learning disabilities early and intervene with individualized help. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of Oostidge Junior High School. The public is invited.

Rates for credit card usage don't seem to be going down. Why don't these rates follow the general trend of interest rates in other areas?

There are two reasons credit card rates remain high. The first, but not necessarily the largest, reason, is the cost involved in processing credit card charges. For all their convenience, credit card charges are costly and time consuming to process. The major factor, however, is credit card fraud. This, according to all experts and industry analysts, is a terrible problem, which is getting worse. Credit card fraud raises the cost of using the card for everyone. Although enforcement within the industry and within the civil area, is growing stronger, and more stringent, credit card fraud, involving abuse, theft and the ever-increasing number of scams, continues to rise. The individual credit card holder can do something about it by judiciously protecting the cards issued to him. But not permitting his account numbers to be released to anyone he does not know, and by using his cards and credit lines wisely.

Selecting best serviceman important task

Repairing a car can be costly, and when repairs or maintenance are necessary, the best person to provide service is a certified automotive technician, the Automotive Information Council (AIC) says.

Americans spend an average of $500 each year to repair and maintain their automobiles, adding up to a total of about $65 billion spent on the nearly 130 million automobiles in use. Currently there are about 850,000 repair technicians to service these vehicles, for a car to mechanic ratio of about 150 to one.

You can locate a competent professional technician by looking for the mechanic certification of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE). Unlike licensing of mechanics, which many states require, certification is strictly voluntary. To become certified, a technician must pass one or more of the written tests offered by the Institute. ASE tests in eight areas: engine repair, brakes, suspension and steering, automatic transmission/transaxle, manual drive-train and axles, electrical systems, air-conditioning and heating, and engine performance.

A candidate must also have a minimum of two years experience working as a technician to qualify for certification. To assure car owners that certified technicians retain their skills and keep up with current technology, each technician is retested every five years.

The Automotive Information Council suggests that when shopping for motor vehicle service, ask if the technician is certified in the area in which your vehicle needs repair. You will probably feel more confident with an auto repair technician you know has mastered the skills necessary to do the job right. Repairs not done correctly the first time can cost you extra time and money.

While ASE certifies technicians and not an entire place of business, you can still look for the blue-and-white ASE sign at repair facilities. The sign bears the slogan, "We employ technicians certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. Let us show you their credentials." Certified technicians also often wear a shoulder patch with the same blue seal design on a white background, reminds AIC.

CHOOSING A MECHANIC — The distinctive ASE patch on the shoulder of an automotive technician is a good sign that the mechanic is fully trained to handle the under-the-hood chores on your vehicle. The entire automotive industry supports this training program.

Employment openings for automotive technicians are expected to rise faster than average between now and 1995, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Moderate estimates project that 38 percent more auto technicians will be needed by 1995.

Highly trained technicians will be needed to fill the gap between the growing technical complexity of today's automobile and the auto repair industry's current limited knowledge in high-tech auto repairs.

your reflexes, can make you sick and leaves you wide open for an accident. Carbon monoxide also can kill, the Council warns.

Especially in winter, when windows are closed, leaking exhaust systems can be dangerous.

Heed noisy exhaust system

If your car's exhaust system is noisy, it's a sure sign that it requires attention, the Car Care Council says.

One thing many motorists do not realize is that deadly carbon monoxide fumes can be seeping into your car from faulty exhaust systems. This odorless gas flows

Repairs can be done frugally

Many motorists enjoy the savings of self-serve gas pumps but shy away from such basic car care projects as changing their oil or windshield wiper blades.

For those who are intimidated by basic car maintenance procedures, consider this: The most commonly needed seasonal services can be done for less than $10 in fewer than twenty minutes.

These encouraging words come from engineers in the automotive service industry, who list the five maintenance projects that can be handled by most car owners. These are:

1. Replacing windshield wiper blades and filling the washer fluid reservoir;
2. Changing engine oil and filter;
3. Replacing the air filter;
4. Flushing the cooling system and replacing antifreeze; and

5. Replacing spark plugs.

Windshield wipers
Windshield wiper blade refills usually cost about $3.00 to $4.00, sometimes less when you take advantage of rebates. They can be replaced in five minutes or less following the instructions on the box. Add another dollar and two or three minutes to refill the washer fluid reservoir.

Oil change
Changing engine oil and filter costs about $6.00 for the oil plus another $3.00 for the filter, depending upon engine size, brand of oil and where you buy it. The procedure involves removing the crankcase drain plug and allowing the oil to drain into a container, then unscrewing and disposing of the filter.

Now the drain plug can be replaced, a new filter installed and the new oil poured into the filler hole at the top of the engine. It's an easy 15- or 20-minute job.

Air filter
To replace the air filter takes no more than about five minutes on most cars. Usually a thumb screw and, possibly, four spring clips hold the lid on the filter housing. Remove these, lift out the filter, put in the new one and replace the cover.

Most air filters cost about $4.00 or less. Watch for "specials."

Houser said Remington Tire Co. has the best quality, pricing and

BEATEN ON WILLOW AVENUE

Larry Johnson of the 1000 block of Rodgers St. said he was near 2909 Willow Ave. at 4:15 p.m. Oct. 14 when a woman drove by and threw a soda on him. Johnson was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

YOUR STARS

By Stella Wilder

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 7- Where happiness rules the home front, on the job matters go well. Make every effort to provide at-home needs. Oct. 8-Oct. 22- Business affairs are easily advanced early in the week. Toward week's end, however, exercise caution.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 7- Don't allow the opposition to create a rift between you and a partner. All must proceed in harmony now. Nov. 8-Nov. 21- Improvement in financial affairs is more than possible. Keep your adverse opinions to yourself at this time.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 7- Confer with those who have more knowledge and experience than you regarding a new project. Dec. 8-Dec. 21- Take no chances with speculation. Guard other people's money as you would your own. Exercise caution.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 6- Know your own mind before you attempt to know another's. A good week for launching new projects.

JAN. 7-Jan. 19- Home conditions are conducive to the achievement of success along financial lines. Expect help from strangers.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 3- All real-estate transactions are favorable to you this week. Only take care not to misrepresent property.

FEB. 4-Feb. 18- Information comes via the mails. You should know precisely what you need to know by week's end. Rejoice.

PISCES Feb. 19-March 5- Those in the background of present activities wield an influence both powerful and unexpected. Court them. March 6-March 20- Personal desires come last this week. The needs of children may surprise you; study them and meet them.

ARIES March 21-April 4- An eventful week for financial affairs. Rest on your laurels as far as social reputation is concerned. April 5-April 19- A pleasant week that can best be described as uneventful. Even so, you advance your cause by week's end.

TAURUS April 20-May 5- If you are overly sensitive to the criticism of those who have your best interests at heart, you may suffer a setback. May 6-May 20- Good home conditions are essential to the success of a new project. Cultivate harmony, peace.

GEMINI May 21-June 6- This is a week free of disturbing influences. Use it to further peaceful causes on the home front. June 7-June 20- Though this is a week not conducive to good work, it does, for unknown reasons, bring a modicum of success.

CANCER June 21-July 7- The promises of superiors sound better than they actually are. Make decisions based on present, not future, reality. July 8-July 22- A slow week that yields more than a little permanent good by week's end. Jump at all chances.

LEO July 23-Aug. 7- Worrisome problems prove at midweek to be self-perpetuating. You can break the cycle by a frontal attack. Aug. 8-Aug. 22- If you can discipline yourself to exercise the tact required, you will make a friend of an enemy this week.

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 7- Don't allow business associates to pressure you into a decision before you're ready to make it. Be on guard. Sept. 8-Sept. 22- Make no changes affecting family relationships at this time. Determine where all relatives stand.

Conflict arises

"Mr. Macios does the assessing. I could tell them (the public) about how he does things," she said.

BRIGGS SAID he determined that there was not a conflict if he selected Macios from among all other candidates for a vacant board position.

Briggs made the Macios selection after the board could not agree on a member to replace Jerry McKeehan, who resigned from the board in late August. State law gives the selection authority to the regional superintendent if a school board cannot make a selection within 30 days.

Briggs said that, despite questions being raised about a possible conflict, Macios will take her seat on the board at Tuesday's regular meeting.

"I ORDERED her seated. She should be seated," Briggs said.

"If someone sees a conflict, they are going to have to solve it at a court level," he said.

Board member Dave Briggs said he will request that Briggs attend the Tuesday meeting to clarify the issue.

He said he will also ask Schooley, the board's attorney, to offer a legal opinion on the board on the matter. "I WILL BE looking for a legal opinion. It is a serious situation if she has a problem. It could erase anything the school board does if we have a member sitting on the board illegally," Partney said.

Carl Macios and Partney have grappled over the assessor/school board member conflict issue before.

Macios ran for Nameoki Township assessor while a member of the board in 1973. He won the office and stayed on as a board member but eventually resigned the board seat.

"I talked to two different attorneys. They told me there would not be a conflict if I were on the board," Macios said.

HE SAID PARTNEY, who later ran against Macios for the assessor's post and was a school board member at the time, also claimed there was no conflict with being the assessor and a school board member.

"He (Partney) told everybody who ran there was no conflict," Macios said.

Partney disagreed that he did not consider the two jobs as a conflict of interest.

"I said that if I was elected, I would immediately resign (the school board post)," Partney said.

Raises given

Byers was the only member to oppose an increase for the County Board chairman. The chairman, Nellie Hagnauer of Granite City, is returning unopposed for re-election.

The chairman's increase is the lowest, amounting to 6 percent overall. From a salary of $29,872, it will increase to $31,667 for each of the first two years and to $32,310 for each of the last two years of the chairman's four-year term.

Frandsen said, "I voted yes for the county chairman because he is the chief executive for the county and thus executive deserves to make a decent salary. I voted no for the others because I represent an area where people are going bankrupt daily, the farmers, and just can't support another tax increase."

"No matter what anyone says, it will definitely lead to an increase in taxes eventually," he said.

"I feel the county chairman should be making at least as much as the other elected officials," Henke said. "He's the rest of us are making enough right now."

Bosch said he believes the officials in greater positions of authority should make more money in order to attract good people to the offices.

Schools get good grades

pare with state averages and norms. "In minutes per day devoted to math, science, English and social studies at the different grade levels, we are generally at or above the state averages in time devoted to those areas."

"Pupil-teacher ratio in Madison at the elementary level is 18.5 to 1 and the state average is 20.8 to 1. At the secondary level, we are 16.3 to 1 and the state is 18.5 to 1. The pupil-administrator ratio is 152.1 to 1 and the state ratio is 221.8 to 1," Kostenski said.

John Palchiff, superintendent of schools, told the board members he wants to distribute the report card data to teachers and then send the report cards to parents on Oct. 29.

EACH PARENT will receive a booklet entitled Understanding the School Report Card and if the parents have questions they will be advised to contact the board office for clarification, he said.

The booklet says the school-level information on the district's report card will cover only the grades which are provided in a child's school.

Bernard Long, principal of Blair School, and Arthur Long, Madison

High School principal, attended the board session.

AFTER HEARING the report, the MHS principal told the board members he feels student attendance is a problem at the high school level. He and the high school staff are currently working on programs to encourage higher attendance.

Both Kostenski and Palchiff said they believe the report is "a good foundation and base line" for the district.

"We will know what areas need more attention and proceed to provide the best educational format for the students," Palchiff said.

the appointment of William Stiehl to the bench.

"In minutes per day devoted to math, science, English and social studies at the different grade levels, we are generally at or above the state averages in time devoted to those areas."

"What is the rationale for having two judges in East St. Louis?" asked Vasil Elitmo of Granite City.

"Some people believe there is justification to keep both of them in the same building, but that fails to take into account the cost to the taxpayer," Haine said.

"When we have major cases heard here, lawyers come into our county, the jurors and staff stay in our county. They will buy their meals in our county."

"We're not asking for anything novel. We're not asking for any change," Haine said. "We're not asking to take anything away from East St. Louis."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to U.S. Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon, and to U.S. Rep. Melvin Price, D-21st.

Griffin stops Warriors' comeback, 17-14

By Gregg Ochoa
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — They say football is a game of inches, and that's how far away Granite City was from possibly its sixth victory Friday night.

The Warriors were stopped on a fourth-and-short play on the seven-yard line with 1:18 remaining and fell to Springfield Griffin 17-14 at Memorial Stadium.

Griffin, a Class 4A school, remains unbeaten at 7-0. The Warriors fall to 5-2 with two games left to play.

"We still have everything to shoot for," said a disappointed Ron Yates. "We still have a shot at the playoffs. We have it in our hands if we can grab it. Nobody's going to do it for us."

This defeat was hard to swallow, considering the Warriors dominated the statistics. Granite City churned out 431 yards in total offense and gained 20 first downs.

Quarterback Tim Hogan had, perhaps, his best game. He was 15 of 25 for 231 yards. Jamie Hogan caught nine balls for 158 yards and two touchdowns.

Two times late in the game, however, the Warriors had a chance to take the lead, and both times came away empty.

Len Whiteside fumbled on the five-yard line with 3:42 remaining after Granite City put together a 12-play drive starting from their own 20.

"We had the mistakes at the wrong time and they finally caught up with us," Yates said. Late in the game, Granite City appeared to be ready to stage a fourth quarter comeback after Tim Hogan intercepted a pass that was tipped by teammate Mike Williams.

The Warriors took over at the 46 with 3:50 left and moved the ball to the seven before they ran out of downs after Terry Stanley was stacked up at the line of scrimmage.

"I thought we could get a half a foot," Yates said. "But the chains showed that we actually lost yardage on the play."

Griffin took over and ran out the clock.

"I was sweating it out," said Cyclone coach Ken Leonard, whose team has not been scored upon in the fourth quarter during the regular season in the last two years.

"I was glad we got the spot. They did a nice job. They are better than how they played against Alhambra, that's for sure."

While Air Hogan was a deadly combination for the Warriors, the running of junior fullback Jeff Swaney was just as lethal for Griffin.

Swaney rushed 19 times for 179 yards and scored on runs of 17 and 44 yards. The second score came with just 31 seconds left in the first half.

"Anytime you give up points when there's just a minute left in the half, it just kills you," Yates said. "This was no exception."

The Cyclones, who have won 62 straight regular season games, totaled 290 yards in total offense and collected 12 first downs.

"We were just good enough," Leonard said.

Griffin scored on its first possession of the game after taking the opening kickoff. The Warriors marched 84 yards in 12 plays as Jamie Hogan caught a 23-yard TD pass. Jim Parker added the PAT.

After a Granite City fumble, Griffin tied the game in the second quarter on Swaney's first TD of the game. The 5-11 junior touched the ball on five of the seven plays in the drive. The key play was a 29-yard pass reception from Joe Robinson. On the night, Robinson was 7 for 15 for 85 yards.

The Cyclones took a 14-7 lead at the intermission when Swaney burst off tackle up the middle and scooped 44 yards for the score.

Early in the third quarter, Jamie Hogan picked off his ninth pass of the year but fumbled after he was gang-tackled. Fortunately for the Warriors, Marvin Weber recovered.

Griffin put together another impressive 84-yard drive which was capped off by Jamie Hogan's catch. Tim made the play, scrambling to his left and then darting up the middle. Tim then suddenly stopped and fired a bullet to Jamie, who had shaken free in the back of the end zone.

"Boy, are they a great pair," Leonard said. "You can tell they have been living together. We didn't contain at all and they made us pay for it."

The game remained tied until sophomore Chris Stapleton kicked a 40-yard field goal with 4:21 left in the third quarter that provided the margin of victory.

Ironically, Granite City's final drive stayed on the ground, with Stanley and Whiteside doing most of the work.

"We were kind of playing soft in the middle and dropping our linebackers, expecting the pass, and they found the weakness," Leonard said.

Whiteside rushed 12 times for 75 yards. Stanley carried 16 times for 71 yards. Paul Sutter had 32 yards on seven carries. He also had five catches for 52 yards.

Freeburg dominates Trojans in mistake-filled game, 55-0

By Gary King
Correspondent

MADISON — Coming into Friday night's game against Freeburg, there were three things which remained to be seen from the Madison football team.

Could they rebound from last weekend's lackadaisical effort against Assumption, a game they lost 21-0? And even if they did, could they possibly stop Freeburg's ground game, which had been a veritable gridiron Toro all season? And finally, would they be able to stun Freeburg's pesky little Midgets, would they still have a shot at making the playoffs?

By halftime, the only issue that remained in question was what song the Trojan Marching Band had chosen to play during the intermission.

Final score: Freeburg 55, Madison 0.

Ironically enough, the Madison band chose to grace the crowd with the tune, "Go Trojans," which summed up exactly what Madison had done in the first 24 minutes of the ballgame.

Down 27-0, with Freeburg rolling up points on the scoreboard quicker than one can say blowout, the Trojans had gone from a team on the ropes to a team on the canvas.

An early indication of what the evening held in store for Madison came on their first drive, when Trojan punter Robbie Poston's kick was blocked and returned 52 yards for a touchdown by the Midget's Mike Schutzenhofer.

On the ensuing drive, Trojan fullback Angelo Cross coughed up the ball on the Madison 47, setting the stage for Freeburg's second score of the opening stanza.

On the fifth play of the drive, Midget tailback Brett Schuessler carried the ball in from the Madison 15, giving Freeburg a 14-0 lead with 2:44 left in the first quarter.

After another fruitless Trojan possession, Freeburg went back to work. With the Midget offensive line exhibiting complete domination over Madison's defensive front, Mike Schutzenhofer capped the eight-play scoring romp when he dove in from the one with 9:23

Freeburg completed their four-drive-four-touchdown first half by rambling 54 yards on 12 plays to carry the 27-0 advantage into the intermission. Schuessler capped the drive when he hit paydirt from one yard out with 2:41 left in the half.

At this point, perhaps the Trojan Band should've considered playing "Turn Out The Lights, The Party's Over." Because for all intents and purposes, it was.

After serving as Freeburg's whipping post for the first two quarters, Madison made an attempt to maintain dignity in the third period.

They did a good job of it, holding Freeburg off the scoreboard until only 19 seconds remained in the quarter.

Once again, Luke Schutzenhofer galloped in from 16 yards to cap a 16-play, 73-yard scoring drive — Freeburg's fifth of the contest.

Doug Parrish would later come off the bench to post touchdowns runs of 32 and 15 yards in the fourth quarter to add to the Midget lead.

Bob Seymour also chipped in, scoring from one-yard out on Freeburg's seventh scoring drive of the game with 6:21 to play.

"We got blown off the line all night, that was the difference," said Trojan coach Don Sailer. "If our team has now lost three of their last four contests."

For the game, the Trojans gained only 92 yards, compared to Freeburg's 316. Cross was limited to 26 yards on eight carries, while Schutzenhofer rushed for 112 yards on 18 carries in the winning cause.

"We've got guys who have been here four years, and they're not playing any better now than they were when they started here. We also lost four of our starters this week because of grades. They're ineligible, they're gone for the year."

"Now the best we can do is buckle up and shoot for a .500 season. This season has been a real disappointment. And with us out of the playoffs, I think I might try some of the younger guys for the rest of the year."

Scoreless tie keeps Warriors struggling

By Gary King

GRANITE CITY — The Warrior soccer team has become living proof that there are two sides to the Law of Gravity.

When Sir Isaac Newton came to the conclusion that getting hit on the head by an apple didn't mean the sky was falling, but that all objects were attracted to the ground, he seemed to have a point.

But now, some 321 years later, the Granite City kickers have thrown a wrench into the heretofore uncontested law.

In a span of three days, the once-unrivaled now-unraveled Warriors have been conked on the head three times. First blow: Belleville Alhambra 2, GC 1 on Tuesday. Second blow: Collinsville 3, GC 2 on Wednesday.

Then Thursday night, the Warriors did everything right. Except scores. Blow No. 3: GC 6, Belleville East 6.

In tying the Lancers, the Warriors also stayed in second place in the Southwestern Conference. They are now 4-1-1 in SWC play, while Collinsville is 5-0-1.

Don't look now, but the skies are lowering.

"Ever see that movie 'High Anxiety'?" Warrior coach Gene Baker asked a spectator. "That's me. I'm high on anxiety. They're (the Granite City players) low, I'm high."

Then Baker shifted back to the non-fictional saga he had just spent the last 100 minutes witnessing.

"We played them (Belleville East) off the field tonight," Baker said. "But it's the little things that are killing us right now."

"What we need is about a solid week or two of nothing but practice. We've got three games left, and I wish we didn't have to play them. The kind of mistakes we've made this week can't be corrected in a game. They can only be fixed through practice."

According to the Warrior coach, the two biggest problems which plagued his squad this week were lack of communication and pressure.

"Our biggest problem in these last three games has been lack of communication on the field," Baker said. "Also, the kids are pressing too hard right now. They're tense, and it's showed in their play."

And Thursday night's contest certainly didn't help to lower any Warrior blood pressures. It was a classic case of a team winning everywhere — except on the scoreboard.

For the contest, Granite City outshot East 24-7. They also posted sizeable advantages in corner kicks and shots on goal, taking both categories 12-1.

"I'd like to see their shot on goal," Baker said. "I must have missed it."

And with action taking place on the Belleville East half of the field for the better part of the six periods, it's not surprising the Lancers' lone shot on goal failed to make a real imprint on Baker's memory bank.

But as it turned out, Mike Nabb's 15-foot blast which ricocheted off the crossbar with 14:29 left in the final period proved to be the Lancers' only real scoring opportunity of the game.

On the other hand, Granite City came close to breaking the deadlock on several occasions, with their best opportunities coming late in the game.

Examples: With 9:21 left in the fourth period, Warrior fullback Dave DeRousse drives in on Gerrard.

who goes prostrate to make the save two feet in front of the goal line.

With 2:45 left, DeRousse once again gets a chance to win the game when he controls a centering pass from Brett Bjorkman. His shot is a rocket, which climbs over Gerrard, hits the top of the crossbar, and bounces harmlessly onto Fehling Road.

With 2:51 remaining in the first overtime period, Jeff Grote pushes in near the Lancer goal and dishes off to Bjorkman, whose shot misses the open net by three feet.

When the buzzer ending the second overtime period and the game sounded, several of the Warriors sat at midfield, heads hung low, discouragement etched on their faces.

"This week has been so bad that I decided to do something tonight. I haven't ever done here before. I'll give the guys a day off (Friday)," Baker said.

"We've been going at a hectic pace. We've practiced every day, and even before games. I think the guys are just tired. So I told them to take tomorrow off and get things in perspective. It's only a game, and there's no need to get bent out of shape about all this."

NOTES: The Warriors were to have faced Alton Saturday night at Collinsville Tuesday night at 7. The Warriors will probably need to win both of these games to get at least a share of the SWC title.
